BRIEF MOVIE RECAP

The Fantastic Four are a group of four astronauts from Earth-828 that went to space on a exploration mission and all returned to Earth with super abilities after encountering a cosmic storm. Their powers allowed them to become the protectors of their world. Reed Richards, leader of the F4, is under a lot of stress as him and his wife Sue Storm prepare for the arrival of their first baby. He is concerned about the potential effects their exposure to the cosmic storm will have on their child. He has also been receiving call transmissions from an unknown source which Johnny Storm is trying to decipher.

One night, the Silver Surfer enters their atmosphere. She announces to the F4 that their planet has been marked for death by The Devourer of Worlds aka Galactus. Johnny chases after her. She says something to him in a unknown dialect to him and flees. Johnny realizes the language she spoke is the same as in the mystery transmissions. They all go to space to find Galactus and talk him out of destroying Earth. Galactus says he will spare their world in exchange for Reed and Sue's unborn child. He says their baby possesses an immense cosmic power that is destined to inherit or cure Galactus' hunger to consume planets. They reject his deal and escape from Galactus and the Silver Surfer. They return to Earth a month later with baby Franklin. The public turns on the F4, begging they give up Franklin in exchange for Earth's safety. Sue promises the public they will find a solution to keep both Earth and Franklin safe.

Reed decides the only possible solution to save Earth is to teleport it across universes so Galactus cannot find it. They install teleportation bridges across the planet. As Galactus approaches, the F4 start connecting all the bridges, ready to teleport Earth but the Silver Surfer comes in and destroys them all. Johnny plays her the transmissions they've been receiving. The transmissions mainly come from her home planet - messages meant for her. Johnny figures out her name is Shalla-Bal and Galactus spared her planet after she offered to serve as his scout. Johnny offers himself to her and Galactus in exchange of them leaving Franklin and Earth alone but she rejects the idea. She leaves Earth, visibly crushed about her role in the destruction of so many planets.

ENDING

With their teleportation plan ruined, the F4 prepare a new plan - let Galactus come to Earth and draw him into one teleportation bridge, shipping him to another part of the universe. Franklin will have to be the bait. Galactus comes to Earth and makes his way towards Franklin. Johnny burns his eyes and they replace Franklin with a decoy in the teleportation bridge. Right before he enters the bridge, Galactus realizes he's being tricked and heads for the real Franklin. The F4 do their best at fighting him off but Galactus gets a hold of Franklin.

Sue uses every morsel of strength and power she has to stop Galactus from walking away with Franklin. She creates a force field to push Galactus into the teleportation bridge while the rest of the F4 help her. They activate the bridge and retrieve Franklin from Galactus' hands just in the nick of time. The Silver Surfer comes back and knocks Galactus into the portal and both of them get transported who knows where. Earth is saved but Sue dies. Not to worry though. She is brought back to life by Franklin's touch, confirming he indeed does have powers.

BRIEF MOVIE RECAP

It has been 4 years since Dr. Strange produced his spell so no one would remember Peter Parker. A very lonely Peter has focused all his time and attention on keeping New York safe as Spider-Man. One day he gets notified of robbery in progress with a rogue tanker. It crashes into the Damage Control building and out of the tanker comes an older lady speaking in a possessed tone. Suddenly the “voice” jumps out of the lady and into a guard. The “voice” keeps jumping until it gets to a guard who is transporting The Scorpion to another prison. The Scorpion escapes on a rerouted helicopter. The “voice” tells Peter he is looking for V-MAX, then it seemingly disappears. Trying to understand this invisible threat, Peter asks Yelena Belova to help him get information on V-MAX.

Peter runs into and follows his old BFF Ned to his housewarming party. Peter sees MJ kiss her current boyfriend and it sends Peter into a heartbroken spiral. Peter passes out and wakes up hanging on the side of his building in a massive web cocoon. His senses are significantly heightened and he can now produce organic web. The emotional crisis sent Peter’s system into a frenzy and increased his arachnid hormones. The Scorpion returns to attack the city. Turns out, the “voice” has possessed the Scorpion. Peter, struggling to control his new extreme powers, fights him quite violently. Freaked out, Peter seeks help from Banner on how to subdue his mutant arachnid DNA. He builds himself an inhibitor to minimize the arachnid powers back to what they were before. Also, Peter and Yelena have gotten an ID on the person behind the “voice” - a young woman named Jean Grey who has telepathic powers. The “voice” has been her in other people’s minds. She is looking for her sister Sarah who sent her a telepathic message (the word “V-MAX”) after she was taken by Damage Control.

Jean uses the Hulk to attack the Damage Control building and find whatever V-MAX is. Peter and The Punisher fight them off. Peter places an inhibitor on Jean, suppressing her powers. Damage Control takes Jean. Soon after, Peter realizes Damage Control is not the ally he thought they were and are going to use Jean for her powers. He goes to find her. Meanwhile, Damage Control starts experimenting on Jean, the same experiments they did on her sister. Jean figures out that the last thing Sarah saw before she died was the ventilation fan on the ceiling labeled V-MAX.

ENDING

This realization causes her powers to go extreme and she puts everyone in a 1KM radius into a frozen state of mind control. Peter comes to terms with his new extreme arachnid powers, removes his inhibitor and fights his way through to a dishevelled Jean. On a nearby rooftop, The Punisher sets up a sniper gun pointed towards Jean. Peter lets Jean see into his mind where she stumbles on a memory of Aunt May giving Peter an encouraging conversation about his powers. Jean gets all the feels and Peter talks her into using her powers for good alongside him. While in Peter’s mind with Jean, Peter senses a gunshot coming towards them in the real world. Peter reacts and pushes Jean out of the way of the bullet. Jean’s control on the city is broken.

Peter gets accidentally shot by the Punisher. Frank takes Peter to the hospital in critical condition. Peter owes his life to Jean who has been using her powers to breathe for him while he was unconscious. A very sorry Frank helps Peter leave the hospital with his identity intact, and takes in the crowd of fans cheering for Spidey’s recovery. He bumps into Ned again, introduces himself as Peter, and to both of their surprise they do their BFF handshake.
