BRIEF MOVIE RECAP

TINY SPOILERS

Natasha is laying extremely low while she evades arrest for going against the Sokovia Accords. One day, she receives some mysterious vials from her estranged sister Yelena Belova. Yelena is also on the run but from the Red Room. The Red Room is a top secret facility that trains/brainwashes young girls to become top-tier spies and assassins through their Black Widow program. Natasha and Yelena were involuntarily put in the program as kids and haven't seen each other in 21 years. Natasha goes to Budapest to ask Yelena about the vials.

Yelena recently broke from the Red Room's mind-control using the Red Dust antidote in the vials she had sent Natasha for safe-keeping. Now she is on a mission to deprogram all the Black Widows with said antidote while simultaneously being hunted down by other Black Widows and the Taskmaster, all of which are under the control of General Dreykov. Natasha thought the Red Room ceased to exist years ago after she bombed a building Dreykov was in. She believed Dreykov died in this bombing alongside his daughter Antonia who was regretfully killed as collateral damage. Natasha and Yelena partner up to take down Dreykov and the Red Room once and for all.

Natasha and Yelena break their dad, Alexei/Red Guardian out of prison with the hope that he knows the location of the Red Room. He doesn't… but takes them to their mom, Melina, who does. They learn that Alexei and Melina were working undercover with Dreykov while her team developed the technology for what became the Winter Soldier program - the ability to take over a subject's cognitive function. The same technology was used on the Black Widows. Both Natasha and Yelena express a lot of resentment towards Alexei and Melina for their participation in them becoming Black Widows. Suddenly, Taskmaster barges in. Melina has betrayed them and informed Dreykov of their whereabouts. The Taskmaster and Melina take Alexei, Natasha, and Yelena to the Red Room. Dreykov wants to give Natasha the Black Widow serum to place her under his control again, and Yelena is on the verge of getting her brain removed.

ENDING

MAJOR SPOILERS

While face-to-face with Dreykov, Melina unmasks herself to be Natasha in disguise. Melina and Natasha had planned to be found and taken to the Red Room. Melina fills Alexei in on the plan, and get in contact with Yelena to guide her out of her confinement. Dreykov unveils that Taskmaster is his not-dead daughter Antonia. After the bombing, Dreykov had made her a human weapon, programmed to mimic the person they are fighting. Natasha tries to kill Dreykov but cannot because he put a pheromonal lock on all the Black Widows making it impossible for them to hurt him. The rest of the Black Widows come to his rescue but Yelena administers the antidotes to them just in time. Natasha sweeps the global Black Widow database releasing all the Black Widows from Dreykov's control.

They all escape an obliterated Red Room as Yelena blows up Dreykov's aircraft. Natasha gives Antonia the antidote and breaks her free from the Taskmaster protocol, bringing back her true self. Antonia is taken to safety by Alexei and Melina. Natasha escapes authorities and goes to find the rest of the Team Cap fugitives.

POST CREDIT: Post the events of Endgame, Yelena visits Natasha's grave. Val Allegra de Fontaine approaches her and asks Yelena to kill Clint Barton (Hawkeye), which she agrees to because, as far as she knows, he killed her sister.

BRIEF MOVIE RECAP

TINY SPOILERS

Peter is dealing with the repercussions of Mysterio's video revealing his identity and accusing Spider-Man of being responsible for the drone attack on London. He is under fire with the Government since the drones were technically from Stark Industries. He waits for life to go back to normal but the controversy has also affected his friends' lives (neither Peter, MJ, or Ned get into MIT "due to recent events").

He goes to Doctor Strange looking for a way to change his situation. Strange performs a spell to make everyone forget Peter Parker is Spider-Man but after three attempts get botched, Strange shuts it down… but not fast enough. A man named Doc Ock finds Peter, fights him for a while, then realizes "he is not Peter Parker". The Green Goblin arrives in search of Peter too. Strange explains to Peter that their spell pulled in everyone from every universe who knew a person named Peter Parker was Spider-Man into their universe. They now embark on a mission to capture all the beings that crossed over. He brings them all to Strange's lair, including Electro, Doc Ock, and Green Goblin. Most of the multiverse villains are dead in their universes so Peter feels bad that they will die again when they return them and believes he can help them change their fate. Strange is ready to send them back but Peter isn't so her traps Strange in the astral dimension. He takes control of Strange's portal rings and the chasm that would return all the beings to their own universe.

Peter brings all the villains to Happy Hogan's apartment (where him and Aunt May are staying). He wants to help cure them of their problems such as removing the chip that controls Doc Ock and separating the Green Goblin from Dr. Osborn's mind. All is working until Green Goblin and Electro turn on him. Electro steals Tony Stark's old arc reactor. Aunt May goes after Green Goblin and tries to save Peter from his grasp. Green Goblin along with the other villains escape. As he escapes, the Green Goblin throws a grenade into the apartment building Aunt May and Peter are still in.

ENDING

MAJOR SPOILERS

Aunt May dies due to injuries from the explosion. Still considered a dangerous fugitive by the authorities, Peter runs from the scene. MJ and Ned anxiously wait to hear from Peter. Ned realizes he can create portals with Strange's magic rings. He wishes to see Peter but Peter-3 comes through. They try again and Peter-2 shows up. The five of them find Peter-1. The three Peters develop cures for all the villains and devise a plan to lure them all to one spot and send them back to their own universes. They each take on a villain, and administer their respective cures mid-fights until Green Goblin is the final villain left to cure.

Strange makes it back to reality and is desperate to get this multiverse mess under control. As they defeat the Green Goblin, the multiverse continues to open and Strange struggles to contain it. Peter suggests producing a new spell, one in which everyone forgets he ever existed. Strange hates the idea but confirms it may be the only way to stop the activity. He does the spell. Everyone returns to their own universes and Peter Parker is forgotten by all.

POST CREDIT: Eddie Brock/Venom fades back to his universe after spending some time in Peter-1's universe. He accidentally leaves behind a piece of Symbiote.

TIDBITS FOR LATER

Ikaris comes to help them fight it off. Startled by the Deviant, they go find the rest of the Eternals - Thena, Gilgamesh, Kingo, and Druig - to warn them. They find their leader Ajak dead. Sprite thinks the Deviant that attacked them in London had already killed Ajak and absorbed Ajak's powers.

Sersi is presented with the energy ball that gave Ajak the power to speak with Arishem. Sersi talks with Arishem and learns that the true mission for the Eternals on Earth is to help bring forth the Celestial Tiamut. Arishem planted Celestial seeds across the universe. The seeds need energy to bring a Celestial out. Deviants were preventing this by offing humans which is why the Eternals were responsible for killing them Arishem created the Deviants to eradicate predators on host planets so intelligent life could grow. But, they evolved and became predators themselves. Earth has now reached the population needed for the Emergence of a new Celestial to occur. Sersi realizes this means the destruction of the planet and human extinction which she is not fond of.

Sersi passes this information on to the rest of the group and they decide that they must stop the Emergence from happening. The Deviant shows up again and ends up killing Gilgamesh. The Deviant absorbs Gilgamesh's powers and becomes human-like, now named Kro. He also possesses Ajak's memories. Now able to speak, Kro explains Arishem used Deviants for centuries for his own benefit and Kro wants to kill the Eternals for being the ones to murder so many of his kind. He runs away. The remaining Eternals locate two other Eternal named Phastos and Makkari. Phastos proposes they find a way to connect all their powers to defeat Kro. Unsure if Phastos plan will work in time, Sersi proposes evacuating all humans from Earth before the Emergence happens. The group is split on whether they should fight the Emergence, escape it or let it happen as planned. Sersi senses the Emergence is starting.

Ikaris threatens to kill the rest of the Eternals if they prevent the Emergence. Sprite and Kingo side with him. The remaining Eternals side with Sersi. They go to fight the Emergence and Ikaris.

Everyone joins the fight but Sersi is the one who must stop Tiamut. Thena kills Kro. Tiamut starts to emerge from the Earth's surface. Ikaris makes a final attempt at stopping Sersi but his love for her stops him. Sersi harnesses the powers of all the Eternals and the energy from Tiamut to stop the Emergence. Conflicted and disappointed, Ikaris flies himself directly into the sun. To her wishes, Sersi makes Sprite human. Druig, Thena and Makkari set out to free other Eternals across the universe. The Ten Rings is an ancient army whose leader Wenwu possesses ten rings that grant him god-like powers and immortality. For centuries, the Ten Rings has conquered kingdoms. In 1996, Wenwu embarked on finding the mythical village ofTa Lo. He fell in love with a Ta Lo guardian who used a mystic style of martial arts, powered by the heart of the dragon. They have a son named Shang-Chi and 20 or so years later, Shang-Chi is living an average life in San Francisco. While riding the bus, Shang-Chi is cornered by some henchmen sent by his dad, who are after his green pendant. To his friend Katy's surprise, he pulls out some incredible martial art skills and fights them off but not before they escape with his pendant. Shang-Chi was trained in martial art combat by his dad and the Ten Rings after his mom was murdered by rival assassins. At 14, his dad sent him on his first assignment. Instead of fulfilling the assignment, Shang-Chi had used this as his opportunity to run away. After the bus fight, he decides to go to Macau to find his sister, Xialing, before the Ten Rings does.

He finds his sister and warns her that their dad is going to come steal her pendant too. Two seconds later, the Ten Rings henchmen show up as well as Wenwu. He takes Shang-Chi, Xialing, and Katy back to the outskirts of Ta Lo. Wenwu wants his kids' help to locate the hidden entrance to Ta Lo, where he believes his wife/their mother is still alive and being held prisoner. He uses Shang-Chi's and Xialing's pendants to access a map that marks a clear passage to Ta Lo. Wenwu locks the three of them up to prevent them from escaping. In their cell, they meet Trevor Slattery - an actor who had accidentally posed as the leader of the Ten Rings before (ref. Iron Man 3). They find a way out of the prison and drive off to find Ta Lo by themselves, which they do!

Shang Chi and Xialing meet their aunt Ying Nan who explains her father is being manipulated by a soul-eater to believe his wife is still alive, and he is actually being led to Ta Lo to open the Dark Gate. Centuries prior, Ta Lo was attacked by the Dweller in Darkness, who threatened the universe's existence. Before the Dweller was able to make it to the normal world, Ta Lo's warriors and The Great Protector imprisoned him behind the Dark Gate. The people of Ta Lo have been guarding that gate ever since. The newly arrived group trains in Ta Lo's martial arts style as they prepare for Wenwu's arrival.

Shang-Chi is saved from drowning by the Great Protector. It drops Shang-Chi off at the gate where he fights Wenwu and tries to stop him from fully opening the gate. Shang-Chi gains possession of his father's ten rings but gives them back to Wenwu in defiance. The Dweller (another dragon-ish creature) comes through the gate. Wenwu realizes he has indeed been manipulated and sacrifices himself to protect Shang-Chi. Before he dies, he hands the rings back to Shang-Chi.
