BRIEF MOVIE RECAP

TINY SPOILERS

Scott has been focused on being a present dad to a slightly rebellious Cassie. Cassie has been building a quantum satellite - a device designed to explore and establish contact with the Quantum Realm without having to be in it - with Hank Pym. As Cassie and Hank show their project to Scott, Hope, and Janet, the satellite sends a signal into the Quantum Realm which Janet frantically tries to shut down for an unknown reason. A portal opens from the device and the five of them get sucked into the Quantum Realm. They fall into a subatomic universe within the Quantum Realm, one that lives outside of time and space. Cassie and Scott get separated from the Pym-Van Dyke's and are taken in by Quantum Realm natives known as the Rebels.

Turns out Janet is well familiar with this universe from the 30 years she was stuck there. She leads Hope and Hank in the search for Cassie and Scott. Along the way, they meet up with an old ally of Janet's who informs them that Kang the Conqueror is now the ruler of the realm. Janet is visibly shaken but refuses to say why. Somewhere else, the Rebels' leader tells Scott that Janet is indirectly responsible for The Conqueror's rise to power. Suddenly, Kang's army attack the Rebels. The forces leader, MODOK is Darren Cross who ended up in the Quantum Realm after his fight with Scott years prior.

Janet finally confesses to Hank and Hope that she met Kang when she was stuck in the Quantum Realm. He had told her that if she helped him fix the mutiversal power core for his ship, he could get them both out of the Quantum Realm. As Janet was finishing up the repairs on the core, she connected to Kang's mind and saw the destruction of countless timelines all at his hands. Kang confessed that he was exiled to the subatomic realm by his Variants after he tried to, according to himself, stabilize the multiverse by ending other universes and causing incursions. Upset by the revelation, Janet used Pym Particles to make the core too large to fit in Kang's ship, preventing him and herself from leaving. Instead, Kang used his technology to conquer the Quantum Realm.

MODOK takes Scott and Cassie to Kang where he blackmails Scott into helping him locate and shrink the core or else he will kill Cassie.

ENDING

MAJOR SPOILERS

Hope finds Scott and helps him attain and shrink the core. Kang turns back on his promise to Scott: He takes the core, doesn't release Cassie, and captures Janet. Hank and his ants help Scott and Hope get to Kang. Cassie escapes her holding cells thanks to her spiffy new Ant-Man suit, and helps the Rebel leader (who is also being held prisoner) out of her cell. Together they project a message to the entire subatomic realm to rise against Kang. Janet fixes the power core and creates a portal for the crew to go home. Scott, Cassie and Hope fight their way past Kang and with the help of a gazillion of Hank's ants and a final sacrificial act by MODOK, they make it to Janet. Before Scott can make it through the portal, he is pulled back by Kang and they fight each other hand and fist. Scott destroys the core and as the portal close, Hope comes back to save Scott. They knock Kang into the exploding power core and destroy it. Kang disappears into oblivion but the portal to get Scott and Hope home also closes. Cassie opens another portal for them with her satellite and Scott and Hope return to the real world.

Scott goes back on forth on whether Kang is really dead or whether they just triggered the end of the world.

POST CREDIT: All the Kang variants in the multiverse unite, eager to get revenge for Kang the Conqueror's death and plan a multiversal uprising. Loki finds a Kang variant with the TVA.

TIDBITS FOR LATER

BRIEF MOVIE RECAP

TINY SPOILERS

The Guardians of the Galaxy are attacked by Adam Warlock, the Sovereign's super creation. Rocket is severely injured and while he is unconscious he relives some of his earliest memories as a baby raccoon. We see as an teeny tiny, freshly experimented on Rocket meets three other animal-robot hybrids. In the real world, the Guardians discovers Rocket has a kill switch on his heart preventing him from getting proper medical help. The Guardians go looking for OrgoCorp to get answers on Rocket's past and a solution to save his life. Adam makes it back to the Sovereign without the batteries he was chasing.

The Guardians arrive at the Orgoscope where they join forces with the Ravagers led by Gamora (this is a past-version of Gamora that time traveled with Thanos to the future and stayed in the present after Tony's snap). They infiltrate the OrgoCoro headquarters and find Rocket's records. They don't find the passkey to deactivate Rocket's kill switch so they trail on to find the High Evolutionary on Counter-Earth - OrgoCorps version of Earth with an ideal society.

Rocket relives fond times with his hybrid friends Lylla, Floor, and Teefs as they dreamt of the new world they were promised. OrgoCorp was looking to create the perfect species. They had built a machine that could instantaneously evolutionize any species but the process made them really violent. Rocket helped the High Evolutionary fix and perfect their evolution machine. He later found out him and his friends were not going to the new world. Instead, the High Evolutionary wanted to dissect Rocket's brain and kill all his test species. Rocket devised a plan to escape. Lylla was killed which caused Rocket to go into a rage and attack The High Evolutionary. Teefs and Floor were then also shot to death. A heartbroken Rocket fled and flew away in a stolen ship.

On Counter-Earth, Quill is captured by the High Evolutionary who wants them to bring Rocket to him. He also plans to destroy Counter-Earth and start his ideal world again to perfect some kinks. Adam also arrives to get his hands on Rocket. The High Evolutionary starts the destruction of Counter-Earth as his ship makes its way into space. On the ground, Nebula, Drax, and Mantis try to find a way to safety before the planet is destroyed.

ENDING

Quill, Gamora, Groot and Kraglin's team take on the High Evolutionary's forces in space. Adam goes after Quill and Gamora. Mantis, Drax, and Nebula reunite with the rest of the Guardians. They fight their way through the armed ship until they find the children. Nebula gets a hold of the ships navigation and locks it onto Planet Knowhere. The Guardians move all the children and animals on the ship onto Knowhere. The High Evolutionary's ship explodes with him inside it. Adam saves Quill from dying in space. THE MARVELS

(2023)

KEY CHARACTERS

Carol Danvers
Captain Marvel

Monica Rambeau

Kamala Khan
Ms. Marvel

Nick Fury

Supremor Dar-Benn

BRIEF MOVIE RECAP

TINY SPOILERS

Out in the abyss of the universe, Carol Danvers receives a call from Nicky Fury asking if she knows anything about a surge in energy in the jump point system. The jump point system consists of wormhole portals used for controlled teleportation across planets. Astronaut Monica Rambeau is also responding to the surge activity from her side of space. Fury and Carol trace the surge to an open jump point/portal on planet MB-418. She also finds evidence that someone was on MB-418 and could be the reason the jump point won't close. Her and Monica approach the surge from their locations but the energy from the jump point causes them to switch places, as well as with Kamala Khan - Carol ends up in Kamala's bedroom on Earth, Kamala in Monica's suit in space, and Monica on MB-418. Carol teleports back to MB-418 where the Kree tell Carol that Supremor Dar-Benn is on planet Tarnax.

Dar-Benn proposes a peace treaty with the Skrull in order to help save her civilization. The sun on the Kree's planet, Hala, is dying so she wants to relocate the Kree to Tarnax. Carol arrives on Tarnax but she suddenly switches places with Kamala again, then Kamala with Monica and so on and so on. Monica suspects that their light powers are entangled. Another switch happens and Monica and Kamala appear on Dar-Benn's ship. Carol arrives and the three of them try to stop Dar-Benn but she is equipped with an armband similar to Kamala's bangle that absorbs all the energy blasts aimed her way. Dar-Benn accuses the Skrull of calling Carol to fight against her so she opens a portal on Tarnax to steal their atmosphere's air for Hala. The three Marvels evacuate as many Skrull's as possible from Tarnax. Meanwhile, Dar-Benn returns to Hala and promises she will destroy Carol and save Hala from despair.

Kamala, Monica and Carol finally get to talking and they determine that Dar-Benn is using her quantum band to create unstable jump points that create connected wormholes to provide Hala with all the resources they need to live. The Marvels get to planet Aladna where they and its civilization await Dar-Benn's arrival. They needs to get the quantum band off her. Dar Benn sees that Kamala has the other band and goes for her while also using her band, create multiple portals from Aladna to Hala. Water from the planet starts flying into the portals. The Marvels activate a jump point and escape Aladna.

ENDING

MAJOR SPOILERS

They go to the SABER space base to warn Fury about Dar-Benn. The base is already in the process of evacuation after an unstable jump point opens nearby. Monica finds Dar-Benn's location and figures she is now after their sun. The Marvels take on Dar-Benn. They pin her down and as she is dying, Carol offers to use her powers to jump start the core of Hala's sun. They call a truce but Dar-Benn springs back and takes Kamala's quantum band. Despite Carol and Monica's warnings that she won't survive the use of the two bands, Dar-Benn uses them to open one final portal. After Dar-Benn explodes into space debris, Carol recovers the two bands and gives them to Kamala.

Instead of creating a portal between planets though, Dar-Benn actually tore a hole in space-time meaning there is now another universe about to collide with their own. Monica proposes that Kamala and Carol blast her with their powers for her to absorb. She then uses their powers to close the tear. Unfortunately, Monica gets stuck on the other side. With the tear closed and their universe saved, Carol fulfills her promise to Dar-Benn and revives Hala's sun before returning to Earth. Later, Kamala finds Kate Bishop to recruit her for a team.

POST CREDIT: Monica wakes up in a hospital in a parallel world. She is being treated by Hank McCoy/Beast and is accompanied by her mom, except she is not her mom in this world, she is a superhero named the Binary.

TIDBITS FOR LATER

- Monica got her powers after walking through Wanda's Westview-hex barrier.
- Dar-Benn and the rest of the Kree blamed Carol for the death of their sun because she killed the Supreme Intelligence.
- Valkyrie helped the Skrull relocate, likely to New Asgard.

DEADPOOL AND WOLVERINE

Deadpool

Logan
Wolverine

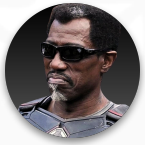

Cassandra Nova

Mr. Paradox

Gambit

X-23

Elektra

Blade

BRIEF MOVIE RECAP

TINY SPOILERS

In 2018 on Earth 616, Wade/Deadpool meets with Happy Hogan so he can make his plea to be an Avenger. Happy does not give him a spot on the team, stating he doesn't yet have the selfless chip the Avengers possess. Now 6ish years later, Deadpool is making a living as a car salesman on Earth 10005. The TVA comes to get him and his informant Mr. Paradox tells Deadpool that he has been called to help them fix the Sacred Timeline. The death of his universe's anchor being, Wolverine, has resulted in the official yet extremely slow ending of that timeline. Paradox wants that timeline to wrap-up quicker but Deadpool can't be on the timeline when it's pruned. Instead of ending his timeline, Deadpool decides to find a Wolverine to keep it alive. After a ton of multiversal travel and meeting a bunch of Wolverines, he finally feels mildly satisfied by one and takes him back to the TVA so they can put him on the dying timeline branch. Paradox refuses to do so, leading Deadpool to realize Paradox is defying TVA regulations. Deadpool and Wolverine get pruned and sent to the Void.

In the Void, they meet variants of other character. One of them is Professor X's twin, Cassandra Nova, who essentially runs the Void. Deadpool and Wolverine escape her and the monster Alioth. They then meet other variants: Elektra, Blade, Gambit, and X-23. Deadpool suggests they team up against Cassandra. They agree and tackle her army. Deadpool and Wolverine find Cassandra. She takes a special interest in Wolverine, stating she gets a lot of Deapools in the Void but never a Wolverine. She jumps into his mind as he confesses his pain over everyone he has killed including being the downfall of the X-Men. Cassandra tells him she can help silence all the pain if he stays in the Void with her. It's a trap though, Wolverine played her. Deadpool places the Juggernaut's helmet on her, suppressing her telepathic abilities. One catch though, they're going to have to remove the helmet if they want Cassandra to send them home. They quickly remove the helmet and she opens a portal with one of Doctor Strange's rings. Outside, Elektra, Blade, Gambit, and X-23 have killed every one of Cassandra's men. Deadpool and Wolverine make it to Earth 10005 while everyone else is left in the Void. Meanwhile Cassandra decides to go after Paradox. Cassandra come through another portal, grabs Paradox and threatens to use his Time Ripper machine to destroy every universe until only the Void is left.

ENDING

MAJOR SPOILERS

Cassandra drags Paradox to his Time Ripper and at the same time the TVA becomes aware of the unsanctioned Time Ripper. Then, hundreds of Deadpool variants come through Cassandra's portal to take down Deadpool and Wolverine who fail to fight them off but Peter/Peterpool comes in and distracts all the variants.

Cassandra takes hold of the Time Ripper's energy source. Paradox tells Deadpool and Wolverine they have to short circuit the machine's power source (two tubes containing matter and antimatter) to shut it down, but whoever forms the bridge will die. Wolverine offers to sacrifice himself for the cause but Deadpool takes his spot at the last second. However, Deadpool can't reach both of the matter tubes on his own so Wolverine takes his hand and they create the bridge between the 2 tubes together. Cassandra is on the other side of the Time Ripper just mere seconds away from destroying the universe. The machine is dramatically shut down with Cassandra exploding with it.

Deadpool and Wolverine somehow make it out alive - together they are stronger than alone, how cutesy. The TVA reprimands Paradox for his Time Ripper. They also show Deadpool that his actions are causing his timeline to regenerate, saving it from extinction. Wolverine becomes Deadpool's newest roomie on Earth 10005.

TIDBITS FOR LATER

- While in the void, Deadpool met another universe's Johnny Storm (the Chris Evans version from 2005 Fantastic Four).
- There is a deleted scene where it is implied Gambit survived Alioth's attack and sees a portal opening in the Void.

(2025)

KEY CHARACTERS

Sam Wilson
Captain America

Joaquin Torres
The Falcon

Pres. Thaddeus Ross

Ruth Bat-Seraph

Isaiah Bradley

Samuel Sterns

Seth Voelker
Sidewinder

BRIEF MOVIE RECAP

TINY SPOILERS

Captain America/Sam Wilson has been helping the U.S. Military with Joaquin Torres (the new Falcon) as his right hand man. Their most recent mission was to recover a canister containing the nearly-indestructible metal Adamantium, which was stolen in Japan by the Sidewinder (leader of the SERPENT group) and taken to Mexico to sell. Sam and Joaquin then attend a World Summit event held at the White House, and they invite super soldier Isaiah Bradley to go with them. Sam wants to prove to Isaiah he can trust and work alongside the government as Captain America. During President Thaddeus Ross' presentation about the Adamantium, Isaiah tries to assasinate Ross. When Isaiah is arrested, he has no recollection of what just happened. Ross fires Sam from his team, stating his friendship with Isaiah threatens the global treaty he has in the works regarding the sharing of Adamantium between nations.

Joaquin looks back at security footage and suspects Isaiah was "hypnotized" by someone through his phone. At the same time, Ross' security advisor Ruth Bat-Seraph notices the same unusual activity. Joaquin traces Sidewinder's last call to a remote location where him and Sam find a lab. There they find lab work for Ross and the technology they think was used to mind control Isaiah. Samuel Sterns walks in. After he mutated from coming in contact with Banner's blood (ref: Hulk), Ross imprisoned Sterns in this lab for 16 years. Ruth finds Sam and Joaquin and helps them escape Sterns' mind controlled soldiers. Meanwhile, Japan backs out of the treaty after seeing that Ross hired the SERPENT group to steal the Adamantium from them. Ross is insistent he did not.

The Sidewinder spills all the tea to Sam - Ross upped the gamma in Sterns' blood so he could grow his brain power and create weapons for the U.S. Sterns has been treating Ross' heart failure with some pills he produced. Scared that he would lose access to his pills, Ross framed Sterns for the Abomination's attack on Harlem. Sterns then set-up the Adamantium heist so it looked like Ross hired Sidewinder to steal it, ruin the treaty, and start a global war. This whole scheme is Sterns getting revenge on Ross for ruining his life. Mind-controlled U.S. fighter jets open fire on Japanese ships. Sam and Joaquin fly in to stop the attack but Joaquin gets severely injured. On the American ship, Sterns contacts Ross who is losing control of himself. Sam neutralizes the threat with Japan.

ENDING

MAJOR SPOILERS

As Ross is getting ready to deliver a statement regarding the attacks on Japan's ships, Sterns approaches Sam who figures Sterns never intended to kill Ross but rather humiliate him in front of the whole world. It is still unclear how when suddenly Ross turns into the Red Hulk. Stern has been poisoning Ross for years by puting gamma radiation in the pills Ross was taking for his heart failure. The Red Hulk goes on a rampage and destroys part of the White House. Sam lures him to another location to fight him without causing too much damage. Sam is able to bring Ross back by triggering a happy memory of Ross and his daughter.

Sterns is arrested. Isaiah is released from prison. Ross steps down from being President and is being held at the Raft. As Joaquin continues to recover from his accident, Sam tells him he will be part of his new Avengers team.

POST CREDIT: Sam visits Sterns at the Raft. Stern warns Sam that based on his statistical probability calculations, heroes and others are on their way from other worlds.

TIDBITS FOR LATER

- Adamantium was found on the frozen Celestial that emerged from the ocean (ref. Eternals).
- Ruth trained in the Red Room and is an ex-Black Widow.
- Bucky Barnes visited Sam. Sam informs him Ross wanted him to restart the Avengers. Bucky is now running for congress.

Val sends her to an OXE Group warehouse to stop a rogue operative from stealing her assets. Inside she comes face-to-face with her target, Ghost, as well as John Walker, and Taskmaster. Ghost kills Taskmaster. Then realizing they've been duped by Val and none of them are actually here to steal anything, they work together to find a way out of the facility before it blows up. They were each sent by Val to kill one another as she considered them all proof against her in her impeachment trial. They also meet Bob - a young man who literally just popped out of a box. During their escape, both Yelena and Walker experience vivid, soul crushing flashbacks when they take a hold of Bob's hands. They shrug this off and keep going. When they get to the exit, the military is waiting to take them all down. Bob decides to draw attention to himself so the rest of the group can escape. He is shot down by a ton of officials but rather than dying, Bob flies into the sky and comes back down in a bomb-like fashion. Everyone is hella confused except for Val who is now aware that Bob is a survivor of the OXE Group's human experimentation project. Val convinces Bob to becomes a hero she's named Sentry. She plans to unveil him as the world's newest and best superhero despite her assistant Mel warning her of the risks involved in giving someone with Bob's history of trauma and mental instability such power.

Alexei comes to Yelena, Walker, and Ava's rescue but they are promptly found by the military. Suddenly, Bucky rides in and takes them for himself. Bucky wants to bring them back as evidence of Val's illegal activities but Yelena convinces him to help them save Bob from Val's clutches instead. The group, affectionately known as the Thunderbolts, find Val and a newly transformed Bob/Sentry. Val orders Bob to kill the Thunderbolts. Barely moving a muscle, Bob fights them all to the point of surrender. Nonetheless, he refuses to kill them since they are not a threat to him. Angered that he will not follow-through on her order, Val tries to end Bob but he fights back. Mel hits Bob's kill switch and everyone leaves the building as Bob's lifeless body is engulfed in a shadow.

ENDING

MAJOR SPOILERS

Bob rises into the NYC sky as a dark shadow figure as the Thunderbolts and Val watch from the street. Bob starts poofing innocent civilians into shadows. The Thunderbolts arm together to stop civilians from getting injured from falling debris. Suddenly the city itself becomes veiled by a large shadow. Yelena, completely at the end of her rope, steps into the shadow/void, disappearing from existence. In the void, she goes through different rooms where she relives the darkest moments of her life until she finds a normal Bob in one of his own dark memory rooms. He explains that although the Void figure is his dark side amplified, he has no control over him nor the attack on NYC.

The rest of the group enters the void to rescue Yelena, and find her with Bob. They make their way through all of Bob's rooms until they locate the Void figure. Bob tackles the Void and starts punching away as Bob himself starts becoming a shadow too. Together, the Thunderbolts help Bob from falling into full darkness and bring him back to reality. They return to a restored and safe NYC. Waiting there is Val. The group goes after her but get tricked into a press conference in which Val presents them to the world as the New Avengers.

POST CREDIT: The New Avengers are discussing the disagreement between them and Sam Wilson on whose group are the true New Avengers. They get an alert that a ship has entered their universe, the Fantastic Four's ship.
